On Friendship

It is hard to define the word 'friendship'; it means something different to everyone because we all have different standards and needs which must be fulfilled by someone — someone we call 'a friend'.

In all stages of life, someone's companionship is needed; to a child friendship means someone to play cowboys and Indians with; to a high school student, a friend is someone you can tell secrets to — knowing the whole world will not find them out; to a mature adult, a friend may be someone to come home to after a long day of tension. There are others who feel true friendship is found only after death — in God — who knows!?

Because each person has the right to develop as an individual, childhood friendships may not last a lifetime, but new friends who share these new interests are not hard to find. In high school clubs, people are working together, this in itself is a start towards making new friends. Throughout this edition of Ad Astra, you will see people working together – 'comrades in arms'.

True friendship is a form of love and requires great loyalty and understanding. It is a valuable thing to everyone, but you should remember — to have a friend you must first be one — this is only too easily forgotten. Can you honestly say you are a true friend? — think about it!

"if you have but one true friend, you've more than your share."

A friend! What is a friend? My friend is one, who laughs with me, who weeps with me; one who encourages, praises, rebukes; who eats terrapin and turkey or bread and salt with me; who comes to meet me at the wedding feast, or stands with me beside the coffin; who listens to my hopes, my fears, my aims, my despairs; who rejoices in my successes; who does not despise me in my misfortunes.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

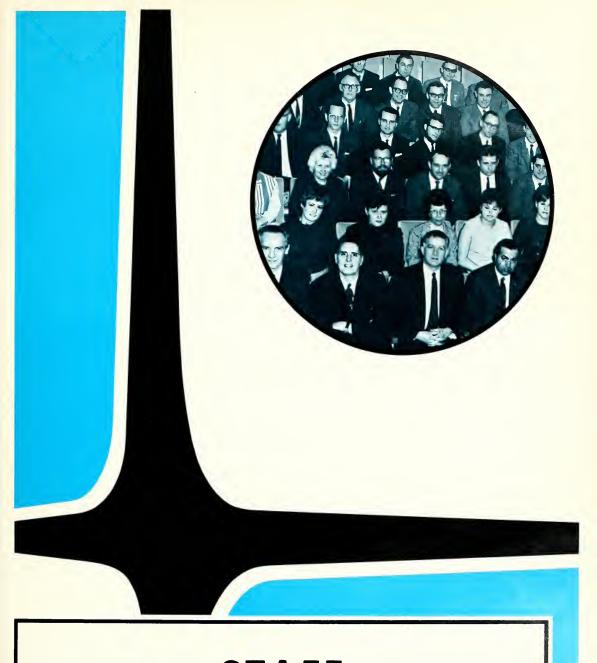

"Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm." - Emerson

Two ingredients for school spirit are enthusiasm and loyalty. Both of these components are synonymous. One cannot be truly loyal without displaying enthusiasm or enthusiastic without being loyal. How can a school generate school spirit? Some believe that school spirit is only displayed by rallies, colours, fever support at athletic contests, school songs, et cetera.

There are certain commandments to be followed in order to show school spirit. The first commandment is to participate fully in your academic studies, extracurricular activities and in support of significant school events. The second commandment is to sound forth praises for your school on every occasion. Negative teachers and students can never generate positive school spirit. Thirdly, one must be so loyal and enthusiastic that he develops faith in his school. Faith gives the victory. With faith nothing is impossible. Faith can move mountains. Are we all displaying such faith in S.C.I. & T.S.?

In the past students and teachers have held high the blue and white banner. May we in the present and future follow in their footsteps at the senior school.

ORGANIZATIONS

A Preface

SCITS offers its students a wide variety of activities. The pages which follow have some twenty-two organizations on them and these by no means represent the sum total of student involvement in extracurricular activity. The writeups which accompany pictures of the executive will give the reader some ideas of the organization's purpose and the functions it has performed during the school year 1968 – '69.

Special thanks goes out to the staff advisors who have devoted so much time and energy to these organizations.

Students' Council

The Students' Council of 1969 was another spectacular success from the exciting football parade involving almost all of the school clubs to the romantic spring prom, "Plaisir d'Amour."

The Council's projects included Roster Parties, films during noon hours, and music in the cafeteria. The Council obtained money by selling chocolate bars and pictures and sponsoring several dances.

The success of the Students' Council this year was due to the excellent representation from the school body and a great deal of organization on the part of the central executive. This was a very good year!

Shelagh Hillier, Secretary

Louise Clarke, Shelagh Hillier (Sec.), John Therriault (Treas.), Tom Ellenor, Mr. Little, Mr. Scott, Mr. Schiek. ABSENT: Walter Eldridge (Pres.), Steve Sparks (V.P.).

Archery Club

At the first of the year approximately thirty girls turned up; as the season progressed this number diminished to ten steady shooters. All have increased their skill in archery. The purpose of the club is to give the girls an opportunity to participate in a school activity as some girls think themselves unsuited for other activities.

Awards Committee

The Awards Committee (Lettermen's Club) is responsible for keeping the points of everyone at athletic teams, students' council, and for academic proficiency. The Junior Letter is received after 60 points have been accumulated: the Senior after 100 points and the honour bar after 140 points. The Lettermen's Club sends a Newsletter to graduate Lettermen to inform them about school news.

During the year, the club sponsors moneyraising projects to finance various activities and work.

B.A.A.

The B.A.A. (Boys' Athletic Association) is probably one of the most active organizations at SCITS. Its function is threefold: to provide an interform athletic program at the junior and senior levels; to supplement the Physical Education budget to enhance the athletic program of the boys by providing additional athletic equipment and supplies; and to contribute to the general well-being of the school through dances and Staff-Student Night, and athletic awards.

This year the B.A.A. has contributed a substantial amount to the Phys. Ed. Department. It has sponsored two dances and a Staff-Student Night. It has supplied trophies to all interform champions, junior and senior athletic awards to deserving students and has donated the John Saunders Trophy to the school. It has initiated the annual B.A.A. banquet and the Awards Assembly.

The reason behind the success of this organization has been the executive and committee chairmen. They are: John Davey (Pres.), Rick Pickering (V.P.), Tony Frangis (Treas.), Larry McDonald (Sec.). Refreshments: John Kajfes, Ticket Sales: Tom Mattingley, Coat Check: Steve Preston, Dance Chairman: Jim Martin, Jr. Rep.: Rick Thomson, and Athletics and Awards: Tom Thomson.

Rick Thomson, Larry McDonald (Sec.), Tony Frangis (Treas.), Jim Martin, Mr. Kilner (Advisor).

G.A.A.

The function and purpose of the G.A.A. (Girls' Athletic Association) is basically the same as that of the B.A.A. An outstanding program of interform sports is carried on during the school year.

Sue Cook (Sec.), Sue Davis, Linda Campbell, Denise Mitchell (Treas.), Connie McLaughlin, Vicki Chumko, Donna Mattingley (Vice.-Pres.), Pat Chumko, JoAnne Pellitier (Pres.).

Band Executive

The Music Department's walls are constantly humming with musical sounds, morning, noon and night. At the present time we have three bands at SCITS, namely: the 75 piece senior concert band, the 64 piece junior concert band, and the 18 piece stage band. The senior band rehearses at 7:15 a.m. every Tuesday and Friday. The junior band rehearses every Monday and Thursday afternoons at 3:15 p.m. and the stage band rehearses every Wednesday evening from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m..

The bands are all working very hard right now to reach a high calibre of playing ability to put on the best show they can on April the 14th when the band from Sir John A. MacDonald, from Ottawa will be visiting us on an exchange trip and our bands trip to Ottawa on April the 24th.

Also, in the first week of May all of our bands will be competing in the Lambton County Music Festival, along with several soloists from the band.

The Senior Band will be playing for the annual Cadet Inspection in May, and this year all of the bands are going to cut a record to go on sale either in June or September. Watch for this, it will make a great keepsake of your days in the hallowed halls of our great school.

Gary McCracken (Pres.), Tim Hawkins (Vice-Pres.), Patricia Brimley (Sec.), David McDonald (Treas.), Mr. Jolley (Advisor).

Booster Club

To be perfectly fair about the whole matter, the executive of this club is the entire Spades Club. When instant school spirit is needed, the Booster Club is there! With the aid of the Cheerleaders, the club holds pep rallies before major interschool games and plasters the school from top to bottom with posters singing the praises of our teams.

Camera Club

The Camera Club meets each Thursday at 3:00 p.m. in Mr. Bakker's science room. Its purpose is to stimulate interest in photography through slide and film shows provided by the Canadian Kodak Company.

Each member has the use of the school darkroom and equipment. Mr. Bakker and various members of the club are responsible for many of the fine pictures which appear throughout your Ad Astra.

Brenda Swift (Sec.), Mark Webb (Pres.), John Wirta (Vice-Pres.), Mr. Baker (Advisor). ABSENT: Wilma Simon (Treas.).

Chess Club

The Chess Club is doing well under president Glen White, who is in his second year. Last year the club received a chess clock which the club will put to good use in the future. The club has a fine advisor, Mr. Bell, and with his coaching S.C.I.T.S. Chess Club will take the inter-school championship. This year's inter-school team will include Glen White, Mark McIntyre, Tony Humphrey and Henry Veldhuzzen.

The club meets once a week and gives students both the chance to play friendly games of chess and to engage in official tournaments, mainly the SCITS championship and the inter-schools chess championship (the Saunders Trophy). Last year's winners were respectively, Tony Humphrey (5–11A) and Central.

Henry Veldhuyzen (Treas.), Don Sperling (Sec.), Mr. Bell (Advisor) Glen White (Pres.). ABSENT: Tony Humphrey (Vice-Pres.).

Boys' Curling

Barry Bouck, Don Jones, Mickey Bishop, Bob Walker, Mr. Fleet (Advisor).

ABSENT: Ron Smith.

Girls' Curling

Drama Club

This year's main effort on the part of the Drama Club centered on the presentation of the production of "Jacob Comes Home" by William Kazlenko and directed by Mr. J. Kinchsular. This was the SCITS entry into the 1969 Sarnia District Drama Festival. The play starred Cal Shaw as the Grandfather, Liz Dailey as Gurda, Cathy Irvine as Leise, Kathy Daily as Magda, Ron Harris as Rudolph, and Evan De Rooy as the Man.

Awards won by the production included a Merit Award given to Kathy Dailey for runner-up best actress, and the Makeup Committee won the Makeup Merit Award.

Lynda Gibb, Brian McBean, Mr. Kinchsular (Advisor). ABSENT: Kathy Dailey, Cathy Irvine.

Interschool Rifle Team

The size of this team is limited by the size of the range and the number of shooters who may compete in inter-school competition. The Senior Boys' Rifle Team forms the Sarnia Secondary Schools Inter-school Team and competes with other Sarnia schools for the Frank Payne Memorial Trophy. It also forms the nucleus of teams that enter such other competitions as that of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, the Royal Military College Club shoot, and the Strathcona Shoot (.303 rifles). The latter two competitions are arranged through the Cadet Corps in the school which also supplies all equipment, ammunition, and facilities. The team shoots as many as three times each week during the busy season.

Greg Gates, Bruce Toye, Ken Gallaway, John Young, Ken Culley, Brian Bissell, Mr. Arthurs (Advisor). ABSENT: John Kajfes (Capt.).

French Club

Students whose interest in French extends beyond the classroom meet twice a month for such activities as a French sing-song, listening to French records, viewing a French film or discussing a fund-raising project for the club to finance further activities.

Miss Meloche (Advisor), Lynne Merrick (Pres.), Pam Wilson, Anna Sidorko.

Key Club

The main objectives of the Key Club, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Sarnia, are first, to provide a service for the school and its pupils; second, to provide a service for the community; third, to help its members who are usually senior students of superior ability and achievement, to develop into leaders not only in their school but also in their community and in their country. Many and varied are the activities of the S.C.I.T.S. Key Club, including the following: the presentation to the school of a pair of artificial flowering plants; attendance at two blood clinics; the organization of a decorated float and performers for the big football parade; the provision and managing of coat-checking and refreshment facilities at functions in the SCITS auditorium; attendance of the executive at Zone Rallies and conventions; the organization of dances; the distribution of TB cards; and an exchange visit with the Grand Rapids Mich., Key Clubs.

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Club has been a very active group this year.

We helped represent our school in the football parade, promoting the theme "The South Shall Rise", featuring pin-ups of "Snoopy" and "Lucy" from the comic strips. We have also made efforts to keep the glass showcase, the Library and the bulletin board filled with displays. During Salute to Youth Week we were represented at Zellers. The members have all had their share of repairing, processing and stacking books plus managing the circulation desk during Library hours.

We are all looking forward to the opening of our new Library next Fall.

Irene Oskobojny (Pres.), Ann Pippard (Display), Marg Anderson (Sec.), Pat Dallaire (Treas.), Mrs. M. Barkwell (Librarian).

REPORTERS CLUB

Under the direction of Mr. McKee, this club promotes all school activity by newspaper and radio. The club keeps a scrap book of all items related to SCITS which appear in local and out-of-town newspapers. Clyde Houston reports weekly to the Sarnia Observer students' section Teen Talk.

Publicity for school functions and student activities is usually arranged through Mr. McKee's club.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club has been very active this year. It meets every other Tuesday to watch a film or members work on individual science projects. Some members of the club entered the Science Ouiz on radio station CHOK and many have had exhibits at the local Science Fair. Also planned for this year is a field trip to Rock Glenn, and, perhaps, the club may even launch a rocket!

Peg Neubauer (Sec.), Larry Munday (Pres.), Ron Harris (Vice-Pres.), Mr. Hamilton (Advisor).

SPADES CLUB

The Spades Club is a girl's service club whose main purpose is to help others. This year the club has been involved in many activities which include ushering at community affairs, book checking at football games, and maintaining a lost and found at the school. This year the club participated in several new activities which proved to be quite successful. The girls volunteered to tag for the Sarnia Hospital Auxiliary, special favours were made for several of the wards at Sarnia General Hospital. Several girls also volunteered this year to aid in feeding elderly people at the hospital. At Christmas time the club sold bags of holly to raise money and this year we have volunteered to make tray favours for the hospital. Once again this year we collected and repaired toys to deliver to welfare families at Christmas.

The Spades Club has been very fortunate to be newly-sponsored by the I.O.D.E. and through them the club has been successful by obtaining new areas to work in.

Junior Boys' Rifle Club

This rifle club was started in the hopes of promoting the advantages of target shooting as a safe and sensible sport. These boys began as rank beginners, many of whom had never shot before in their lives, and matured into a group which contains some very fine shooters. In a match against Central at Cedar Springs Range, the 'enemy' was defeated soundly and lowered to their rightful position. The top shooters in this group also participated in a competition against the Senior Team and narrowly missed upsetting them (?).

As a final product, this club intends to produce boys who are not only safe and sensible shooters, but boys who are fine and responsible citizens.

GRADUATES '69

13A Mr. R. Bell

DAVE BETTRIDGE: Dave is as reliable as a barometer. A break in the weather will cause him to slink out the west door and skip down Wellington Street. Needless to say, high school is secondary.

JIM BLACKMAN: Jim is an upstanding young lad with school foremost in his heart. His future looks bright.

GREGORY BOSHAW: Mr. Scott's math whizz. A certain J.M. keeps Greg out of trouble and Greg is working hard for his engineering degree at Waterloo University.

DOUG BROWN:

ERIC BRYANT: In keeping with the foreign aid program, this young man immigrated from Northern Ontario to receive a more advanced education in labour management. By thoughtful management, his labour in school is kept at a minimum.

DALE CUTHBERTSON: Dale entered the refinement of Grade 13 from the wilds of the Technical wing. His foremost ambition is to graduate from school by any means. So far he has resorted to charm, bribery and extortion.

JOHN DAVEY: Bear's main ambition is to come back to Scits and win the football title. If John does pass, he wants to go to Waterloo and take some simple course.

SCOTT DUNCAN: Scotty is basically a good kid! He works very hard at things he believes in. He has a great sense of humour and lots of patience. Once a friend, he remains a friend. His main ambition is to pass Grade 13.

MAURO GACCIOLI: The field of auto design will change abruptly when this young enthusiast enters it. His goal is to give the driver more manoeuvreability when parking; day time and alone; or night time and not alone.

LARRY GASCOIGNE: A student of SCI for the last five years hopes to graduate and go on to university. Larry can be seen peddling flowers from Corunna on his trike.

BONNIE GUNTER: Bonnie has a lot of initiative - though she is more of a quiet type.

DAVE HANSEN: Dave spends his time trying to convince everyone what great shape his motor bike is in. He has a solution to the social problems of our time: creating a population of robots. That's why he plans on taking computer programming at Western.

BERNARD JABLECKI:

BRAD LATVER: Brad runs his own "taxi service" on the weekends. He is noted for his charitable work for organizations, such as GAA. Next year good ol' Brad plans to attend Waterloo for what, we're not sure.

BOB LECLAIR: Bob's well known around Scits. He's a real asset to his class. As to what he contributes that is doubtful. Bob tries to play football but is unfortunately (?) not too athletically inclined. Next year Bob wants to go to Western.

BRUCE LESTER: (Harv) is one of Scits' most COLOURFUL students. He aided in the Bomber movement for the past two years. He plans to go further in education – probably 13 again – Hey Harv?

BRIAN McBETH: Brian is noted for the numerous personality changes he undergoes each day. He's always mad because when he takes a bath his mother comes in and sinks his toy boat. Maybe some day Brian will grow up and be able to sail his own boat.

DAVID McCORMICK: "Rocky" is in the seven year programme and has finally made it to grade 13. A scholar in his tech subjects he obtained honours in 9 – 12. His future, however, is doomed to selling canoes in the Sahara Desert.

FRANK MRNIK: The former "Red Baron" of St. Pat's has come bombing in to SCI to perform his Final heroic feat – obtaining Grade 13. He's quiet – but aren't they the kind your mothers warn you against?

ROBERT NEAL: Bob spends most of his time devising unique excuses for skipping classes. Since he was born with brains, he has no excuse other than he misplaced them.

JAMES NICOL:

FARROKH PATELL: Farrokh's hobbies are cricket, and playing the piano, and will be a welcome addition to our Scits Review this year. Farrokh's ambition is to become head custodian at the Taj Mahal.

MIKE PRESTON: "Wee little Mike" can be seen stuffed into his white Mini hustling from Corunna to Sarnia. Mike played on the football and basketball teams and is destined for a future as a political minister.

PAUL RICHARDSON: In consideration of all his achievements at Scits, it must be noted that he is known for his punctuality. His collection of late slips is as fine as could be found anywhere.

ELIZABETH ROSS: Beth, one of the intelligentsia, plans on being a teacher. We hope she does as well in the future as she has done in the past.

ANNA SIDORKO: Anna has participated in school activities. She is best known for her strong views, We wish her luck when she becomes a tough drill sargeant in the Peace Corps.

GEORGE SUNAITIS: The flowering giant of 13A with the versatile talents. He maintains his honours average along with his beard and is centre on the senior Bombers basketball team.

TOM THOMSON: This easy going guy is not as dumb as he looks. He's an athlete "cum laude" and plans to go to college.

WAYNE WALKER: Pursuing in the field of business administration Wayne shall be at the heels of business executives on the financial ladder. His aim is to be president of General Motors.

MIKE BARTLEY: Mike is one of the quieter boys in 13B. He is an avid hockey fan and player, but alas, he is destined to promote hockey as the national sport of South America, Good Luck anyway.

13B Mr. J. Bakker

LYNNE BRONSON: Lynne can be found when something has to be done. She's usually seen working diligently in the Spades Lost and Found. She plans to attend Western and become a teacher.

DEBBIE BROUND: Debbie is basically a very sweet person with brains too. . . that's really not fair! After high school she plans on going into nursing but she's afraid of needles!

PAT CHUMKO: Pat has participated in GAA, Camera, Glee, and Spade Clubs. Her favourite pastimes are drawing, boy-watching, and eating Canadaburgers. We wish Pat the best of luck in the future, even if it is just working at Pace Setters.

KAREN CLEMENS: "Clem" an usually be found moping around the halls of SCITS, wishing she were somewhere else. If she makes it through grade 13, she'll be heading for Kitchener for her nurse's training.

JANICE DALY: Jan is one of the more intelligent people of 13B. She hopes to become a physio-therapist, Her size might be against her but her charm isn't.

PAUL WOOLLEY: Otherwise known as "Professor" is a self-appointed electronics expert; when not fixing radios he plays his guitar. If Pro. does not go into the field of engineering at Waterloo, he will probably sell stereos to the Eskimos.

ABSENT: TERRY BRIDGES, LARRY EVERS.

MARY DAUNT: You can usually find Mary standing around talking about George or working hard (?) out at Sentry. Next year Mary wants to go to Teachers' College.

BRAD DUDLEY: Brad is one of the most sincere people you could meet nowadays. He is very interested in mustc and his interest is reflected by his talent, but we do wish he'd stop tapping his fingers and singing to himself.

SHARON EBY: Although she is from Corunna, she has done well at SCITS. "Ebe's" greatest pastime is to pretend she's working – really she's watching the kids passing by. Next year she hopes to be going on to nursing school.

PAT FORBES: "Swinger" Forbes is on a manhunt. Her great ambition is to attend Teachers' College and teach grade II where the kids are the same size as she is.

JUDY GAWDUNYK: This gorgeous, sweet, slick, little chick is good in everything.
Only her personality outshines her looks. Her best quality, however, is her modesty!

LYNDA GIBB: Gibby is one of our greatest assets. She participates in almost everything and someday plans to contribute to our liliterate race by spouting forth with great knowledge of English and history which she will achieve at Waterloo Lutheran.

HELEN GRIFFITHS: Although Helen never laughs we know deep down she has the makings of a real comedian or the switch flicker in the electric chair room. Knock 'em dead,

DANNY GUTTERIDGE: There's not much to be said about Danny G. because he doesn't talk that much. Dan hopes to attend a Horticultural school after he completes grade 13.

HARRY HIEMSTRA: Harry is Miss Wilson's prize English student. Whatever he does, he is always confident it is wrong. He is known for the love letters he writes in Math class.

JOHN KAJFES: There are many important junctures in life's highways, if the right one is taken – success is found. Well, John is on Highway 40 now, and soon he will be "completely" lost.

STEF KETLEY:

JOHN LESSELS: John is a whiz at languages — French, Latin, and English. He has come to the aid of the class more than once. After high school, he plans to become — what else? — a language teacher.

GERRY MACDONALD: Gerry, after six years of SCITS, is hoping to finally graduate this year. Though nobody knows it, Gerry is one of the coolest guys at SCITS. Gerry wants to attend Waterloo next year.

GARY McCRACKEN: Gary's future must lie in musical endeavours because his academic life is very dismal. He is known for his great wit and his purple shirt.

SCITS SCHOOL SONG Stand and sing to SCITS Sing your praises; it deserves no less; And tell of days spent in those halls of fame Where we learned to work and play the game. Onward, Forward, striving to the end Tho' the Road be long. So we'll work with a will, For our knowledge and skill, At the SCITS. - Words and music by Allison Rowell

Ad Astra '69 invites you to view some of the highlights of a fabulous year here at SCITS. It all began with football and the RISE OF THE SOUTH; it was climaxed by the SCITS REVUE.

A beautiful day for THE RISE OF THE SOUTH Parade. Students and teachers cheered the Bombers to a 20 – 0 win over the St. Clair Colts.

THE POSTURE QUEEN and her COURT

The SCI&TS Girls' Athletic Association held its annual Posture Week this year in February. The climax came at an assembly which ranked a close second to the Academy Awards night on television. There were handsome escorts for all the girls, bright spotlights, and the suspense of the sealed envelopes. The School Band added to the sparkle of the event.

The Queen, Janice Ketley, is seen seated (above) on her throne surrounded, from the left, by the runners-up-Janice Dailey, Jan Taylor, Kathy Ladenchuck, and Angela Frangis.

SCITS REVUE '69

"THIS ENCHANTED EVENING"

The 1969 Edition of the SCITS Revue opened with a flash of glamour and the brilliance of humour. The MCs, Meris Cavasotto and Gil (Butch) Small were escorted to the stage by worshipping men and beautiful girls, respectively. The announcer for the evening, Mark Armstrong, then appeared on the scene to form one of the most entertaining trios an audience has ever

After songstress Linda Campbell endeared the audience with "I Believe", we were taken to a typical (?) scene at the local Customs Office. Following this in rapid succession came an old Alexander favourite, "Dem Bones", a commercial (who could be without them?), the Pot-pourris and their girls to listen to music by (or was it supposed to be the other way around?), and The Bomberettes, as lovely a group of girls as you'd find anywhere. "There's no Heroine like a Girl Heroine" or "What's new Florence Nightie-Night and all you girls who fight for right" was next, followed by a musical interlude provided by the Stage Band whose performance throughout the evening was excellent. Our resident song-writer, Mike Edgar, showed his talent with two solos then led us into a three-part dance number entitled "Those were the Days". Intermission followed.

The MCs opened the second half of the show 'cleverly' and introduced a satirical skit "the way it should be - the way it is - a typical day at SCITS".

Farrokh Patell and his musical group brought the house to its feet in a standing-ovation for their medley. More gorgeous girls in the "Doll Dance". A three-act skit entitled "Julius Sneezer" gave evidence of good writing and award-winning acting; the audience showed its approval with belly laughter and loud applause.

The enchanted evening concluded with audience involvement in "Hoot 'n Holler Time", led by Mark Armstrong.

a word from the director

My warmest and most sincere thanks go to the cast and crew of the SCITS REVUE. Close to one hundred and fifty students contributed in some way or another to the success of our show. Special thanks as well must go to the staff advisors who offered their much-welcomed help when I was greatly in need of it. To anyone else who was not directly associated with the Revue but contributed in some way, please accept my appreciation.

As for those directly associated with the Revue, "thank you! thank you! thank you!" to a group of hard-working, cooperative and, most of all, extremely talented people! I love you all!

Brent McFarlane and Don Hart were honored during SCITS Boys' Athletic-Association's first annual dinner last May,

Principal J. A. Saunders presented the trophy, named in his honor by the association, for the first time to the pair for being picked as the school's most outstanding athletes.

Mr. Saunders spoke in high praise of the school's athletes. He told them: "You have upheld a fine athletic tradition which includes a Canadian high school football championship won in 1928."

The SCITS association sponsors a wide variety of interform sports, which includes lacrosse, badminton, and wrestling. President last year was Steve Sparks and Ron May was vice-president.

At a special assembly last spring, Brent McFarlane, Stu Lewis, Rick Robertson and Jim Martin were presented with the Don Buddo Trophy for the Senior Mile Relay.

The J.E. Johnson SSSAA Trophy was also presented to the Junior Track and Field Champions.

SPRING HI-LITES '68

The student body was entertained in various ways last year. The GAA presented their second annual fashion show, Spring Fantasy. The girls modelled swimwear, sportswear and other casual attire. (Top picture)

The "Crusaders" entertained the school with their spiritual folk songs. The Salvation Army group consisted of Major and Mrs. Clarke and their daughter Janie.

Fun and games was the order of the day at the Students' Council's "Jack Frost Festival". Shown here are just two of the many eager participants of the apple biting contest. There was also a Kissing Booth, Folk Singers, and a Pancake eating contest.

WELLAND BAND EXCHANGE '68

The monotony of the prairie rolls on and on, He lifts o'er the fields his sad, desperate song Of how he will leove when the summer is gone, Of how he will go when the crops are in.

His time is running out, his tale almost told, He came to get rich from the gross which is gold, He has nothing but memories now that he's old, The plains have become his prison.

He come with his youth, he will leave with age, The time he has left is but a few days, Before his name's written on death's black page, Before these lowlands become his tomb.

He dreams of returning to the lond of his birth, Where his ancestors' roots ore deep in the earth, Where his last days could hold something of worth, For the plains were never his home.

Reminiscence

Ah, remember the good old days — When our bellies were empty ... and our brains were hungry.
When we would sit around the electric stove ... feet propped upon unopened schoolbooks:
Complaining about the load of responsibilities, Fretting with the lack of something to do.

We would fondly talk: About the better days gone by; About the more understanding, sympathetic tomorrow we would forge.

Ah, remember the good old days — Aren't they a hell of a lot like now?

1 BELIEVE

I Believe in peace on earth,
And life will start a new birth.
Black and White, will join as one,
Underneath the sky and sun.
I Believe in all things good,
And all problems understood.
Wars will end, without a loss,
Not one country striving for boss.
I Believe in things so grand,
On this our great land.
All the people having fun,
Underneath the sky and sun.

A LEAF

It fell, first quickly and then more slowly as it caught the over-tossing currents of air. By some deadly quirk of fate, it had fallen before its time. Colour had just touched the edges of its jagged perimeter and the catacombs of veins had not yet turned scarlet. It lay there on the grass, tossed and tumbled by the wind, playing an endless game of tag with its fellows. Soon there will be pieces left behind as its brown body grows smaller and then it will be gone.

FANTASY

There is but one thread of gold Woven through the fabric of his days, The great, copper, autumn moon, Marks his passage year by year, But as he sits, all alone ... In his corner of that room Time has lived a forgotten existence.

A moment's dream becomes the velvet Pinned with sequins up above; Quietly he seeks the realm beyond While the day fades from a memory, He sees nor hears nothing, For enclosed within his time-bound canopy, He waits for a dawn in the break of day.

In chill black he strikes a light
And swiftly through the corridors filigreed with jade,
He returns to those long-forgotten nights of fantasy
Listening intently.
He has, at last, found a segment of peace,
A shaft of silver through the heavens.
Has conquered his fear.

Sunset dropped its misty veil;
Coral tinted the grayish sky;
He caught the reflection of the day and turned,
Waved, and laughingly said,
One last, and unconcerned goodbye,
Tipping his head to catch one moment's shade.
Then vanished from all that penetrated his time-bound canopy.

WHY?

Why do they do it? Why have they tried? Out comes a bullet To bolster their pride.

How long will it endure? How far will it go? It says "ALL MEN ARE PURE" BUT, is this so?

How long will it be Before our country is free? Will our forces forsee What the outcome will be?

Some must be losers, But GOD is our chooser. Will this battle fail To no real avail?

This is the question? This is the thought! This is our lesson On how we have fought!

A LOOK AT HUMAN UNFAIRNESS

When the child has the mind of an adult We praise him.
But when the adult has the mind of a child We sit, stricken with awe,
Mistaken for ridicule.
So we coddle the child and shun the adult:
The child needs more security
The adult, a life alone,
We think.
Who are we, fair citizens?
Judgment on the damned
Carried out reverently,
For our lives are short
And the time we have to be fair in Is extinct.

Paddy Bridges (11A)

CONCLUSION

The end is near
We've nothing to fear.
No more questions to answer
No more people to question
Soon, we can hate no more
Love no less
Our life passes by
Within our memory
With only significant stops
Stops were there is no pain.

It's time to pray
The end is near
We've nothing to fear,
The mirror of our mind
Will soon break
And no longer will we look to the past,
And see that with every mistake
We learned
With every failure came humility.

Some memories are fine,
Others not
But, now the end is near
We've nothing to fear
Soon all our thoughts will disappear
And no longer will we hear
Or ever again shed a tear
And all our life seems so mere
Yet to some of us life was dear
And the end is near
Never again to fear.

THE WAVE (LIFE HISTORY)

Out in the midst of the sea, I emerged, From a meek, calm wave — Reaching the peak of her time, I was given life.

None around knew I came,
My birth was natural.
I was expected —
But life rolled on
And passed me by.
The others dying as they reached
Full height and force.
You could hear their cry
As they broke against the rocks.
What could I do to help?

Starting as a tiny ripple,
Running faster — anxious —
More eries — terrified —
Soon the foam collected
As I sped along.
I gathered force.
The noise became deafening
I couldn't see through the fog,
I wish I knew what lay ahead.

But If I wished to stop — I couldn't. By now The others had heard cries, too. And pushed me along.

At full height We realized That the noise was our own. We had caused our own death.

We went slowly. Trying to stop. But We couldn't. It was too

Reaching the peak I slowly began to dwindle. I became smaller. First I crawled. Slower. Slower. Slower.

Then I creep. Barely moving.

Water is sprayed as I dash against the rocks.

A cry is heard. It is mine.

A WIND

I arose in the desert.

I was indecisive and excited Whirling first one way then another, Searching for a goal; Examining every possibility And finding no direction.

I never questioned my origin
For my mind I knew that I had just happened,
Forced upon the world by fate.
Nature gives no reasons.

In a flash I had inspiration, Skimming across the dunes in my haste Heading towards an unseen goal.

The coast was in sight now.
Sailboats were lying idle
Marooned by my absence.
As I struck their sail, they cried for joy.
All day I worked;

And then I headed out to sea.

Far from the sight of land my strength failed Dwindling ever weaker, Until I was but a puff of air; And then I died, Never questioning my fate. Nature gives no reasons.

DAYBREAK

All is dark and silent; A pale moon shivers in the open sky, The city sleeps, undisturbed...

Far away, in the deep mist, You can hear the slow trudge Of a truck; it sounds painful In the early morning.

And now, it is barely light, The faint glimmer of the Glorious Sun Reveals itself to the world;

Man awaits this new day.

A SMILE

Satisfaction is the root of this involuntary reaction It lights up his face
With a wonderful Brilliance.
A sign of pleasure within him...
The child is content.
What goes on in that tiny world of his?
He knows not how to reveal the answer;
But his mind is at ease, and he shows it.

"THE EXTINGUISHED"

A tag is placed upon the young, A serious time of life begun. Careers of others before you loom, Where do we go, and how soon?

The shaggy hair is just a fad, So broaden your minds and be glad That your children are here for you to enjoy, But don't destroy them as if a toy.

Love and protect and treat with care, It was your desire — a life to bear. Honour and respect you should receive, If your children you do not deceive.

Recognition is not our desire, A little love would extinguish the fire. Sometimes we release in pot Because morality you never taught.

Just an hour of your precious time, When we were still in our prime, A sacred bond might have been sealed Instead of causing us to steal.

And now as I gaze between the bars, I have a lifetime to count the stars. You may disown me and lift your proud face, I'm sorry to have caused you such disgrace.

THE TALE OF AUTUMN

The marsh mists turn into a haze During the long, still autumn days. The trees' leaves from green do turn To shades that seem to make them burn. All along the rolling hills of brown Milkweed pods let loose their down. The Sumachs turn from green to red And winter wood is stored in the shed. The old mill pond is quiet now As autumn breezes gently blow Telling the tale of an ending year; Summer is gone and winter almost here.

WAR

As the new days begin and nothing is there, But the clouds in the sky and the land so bare.

The wind is blowing; the sun is bright.
Where are the people? Have they gone to fight?

Where are the birds? Not in the trees; Where are the fish? Hiding in the seas.

Where are the noises of a working day? Everything is quiet like a holiday.

Still, as if nothing were here, Except the clouds' musty smear.

Seven days to build this place, And not much longer to destroy our race.

Since the time of Adam and Eve, War has brought death and made us grieve.

Tom Robb (9H)

EULOGY TO JOHN, GEORGE AND GREG LADOO

Why oh why is this book red, Why oh why is it red, It is red for the thing we dread; The fear of the Haunting of the Dead.

The fear is haunting us everyday, In our homes in wars and in every way; Why oh why must wars start and stay, Killing of friends in the horror of today.

John, George and Gred Ladoo, All died for me and you; What's left for us to do, Except to grieve for John, George and Gred Ladoo.

They were there writing home to mom, Sign by the gifts of the lonely threesome, They have nothing left to eat but gum, They were there writing that lonesome threesome.

The enemy smiling nervously with a sneer, The enemy drawing almost all to near, Lying there bravely without a tear, Still filled with a horrifying fear.

Amongst the dead falls the snow, Some were killed by that horrifying blow; Wondering if they will ever homeward go Without being killed by the deadly foe.

ROAD SIGNS

Road signs may vary because of their names No left turn no right turn they're not all the same And when a stop light flickers red, green, or yellow There is a rule that must be known by a fellow.

The red means to stop, to go it is green, The yellow means caution and is found in between If the light had burnt out and one went on a red The person would probably end up as dead.

And when you are in such a terrible hurry Out from the woods jumps something so furry He blocks off your path with his gigantic bulk And all you can do is sit there and sulk.

Road signs are no menace to man and society They keep street corners from becoming so rioty. And if no road signs were to be had Bad luck and misfortune would befall your dad.

Some street signs are pleasingly read by a man Like knowing he's back home once again But all signs are not as pleasingly read Some make a man kind of angry, it has been said.

Like driving for miles down an endless road The one your destination is on, you've been told. Then you find yourself turning a bend And discover a sign that reads "dead end".

FEAR OF THE UNKNOWN

He was being followed. He was sure of it now. Several times in the last hour he had glanced back over his shoulder to see a low-hanging branch spring back into position or some bushes quiver as if hiding someone or something. Some quiet rustling behind him attracted his attention as he walked slowly down the trail. He started to quicken his pace as if trying to outdistance his unknown foe. He had blanked his mind out against it but somehow the danger kept creeping in. As he walked he felt the beady little eyes of his adversary, boring unmercifully into the back of his head. He whirled around quickly as if to catch it off guard but nothing was in evidence except the gracefully waying pines and the few straggling maples fighting for a place in the sea of evergreen. The enemy was there. He could feel its presence, unseen but alive. He turned again down the trail, more convinced than ever of the murderous intent in the mind of his invisible enemy. He started to jog, not allowing panic or fear to creep into his mind. As he ran under a large over-hanging rock he felt pebbles raining down upon him. He glanced up fearfully but could see nothing. Traces of fright entered his mind and he started to run at top speed. He turned from the trail and ran headlong up the side of the mountain. He was out of the forest when he finally slowed but he only paused to navigate around the deep chasms which split the rocky terrain into a limitless number of small island-like sections of rock. As he crashed around boulders and over ridges in his mad dash for safety, he heard a rattle of stones behind him. He was almost senseless with fear now and he drove his exhausted body on sheer determination alone. In his haste, he tripped over a small protruding boulder and sprawled out full-length on the rock. He heard a sickening crack and felt a severe pain shoot up his tortured leg but by now his fear was greater even than his sense of pain. He hauled himself up onto the knee of his good leg and proceeded painfully up the trail, pulling himself along by his arm. Finally he felt that he could go no further. Suddenly a grating of rock on rock reached his crazed mind and his fear touched off a reserve of new-found strength. Nothing mattered now except to get away from the beast following his trail. He was stopped short at the edge of a deep canyon and he lay there, sobbing and gasping for breath. Footsteps sounded behind him, gradually coming "He'll never get me now", he muttered and he pushed off, gracefully cartwheeling down into the dark abyss.

THE STRANGER

It was a beautiful day out, the weather being typical of late June. Everyone was cheerful and gay. The flowers were out in full bloom and birds were flittering around and singing merrily. Nearby a child was playing with his were intering around and singing merruy. Nearby a cniud was playing with instanctive, cuddly, little teddy bear under the careful sharp eye of his grandmother. Suddenly without warning, a shrill scream arose followed by a tremendous tremor and a black cloudy sky. Instantaneously all the hydro-electric power was shut off as a gigantic ship appeared. It was made of some very extraordinary substance which looked like mould. The ship itself was very simple in design but had an old shape.

Jimmy's grandmother and her neighbours who had watched the procedure with horror-stricken eyes finally regained their senses.

"Oh my God", cried Vicki, young Jimmy's mother, "get the police". No sooner had she spoken than a group of men ran blindly to the police station. Upon entering the station the men stopped short in their tracks, for here there was hydro-electric power, a clear sky, no ship and everyone was talking normany.

"May I help you with anything?", asked the secretary.

"I'd like to speak to the chief please", answered Mr. McLean.
"I'm sorry but the chief is attending a conference and is not to be disturbed," replied the girl, in a matter-of-fact tone of voice.

"Miss, it's an emergency!" exclaimed Mr. McLean.

Reluctantly she got the chief from the conference and introduced him to the man. He then invited all of them into his office and there they told him of their dreadful experience.

Doubting the men the chief went to the location of the disturbance and immediately began investigation.

The first day nothing was accomplished. That night however strange things occurred.

After Vicki had put the children to bed she sat down in the living room and began knitting a little sweater for her youngest child DeeDee. About three hours later making it eleven thirty p.m. Vicki thinking she heard the children rousing, went in to check on them. As she entered Jimmy's room she was stunned to learn of Jimmy's disappearance.

Shocked as though unreal she went back, phoned the police and waited in terror. After many days of strong investigation, the police found no real happening relating to the mother's story. The mother became very depressed with the police's acknowledgement of discovering this mishap, so decided something was to be done and she is to do it.

It happened all quite strangely as this whole situation seemed to be. Jimmy's mother had the most unusual sensation through her body while reading a book called "Rosemary's Baby", the book keeping her mind enclosed to all the happenings related back to her son's disappearance. With more investigation and learning of this type of thing she was left saddened and quite alone, learning that her son was taken away, because he was the Second Christ Child.

AS SEEN BY A VIEWER

I watched a very interesting movie the other night, it was called "To Kill a Mockingbird". The opening scenes introduced us to two motherless youngsters from down south.

in the house down the street.

......Put a dove in your kitchen......... The youngsters' father was a lawyer who had just taken a case defending a Negro charged with raping a white woman. You can take Salem out of the country, but you can't take the country out of Salem...

Now we are at the scene in the courtroom. The negro's lawyer has just presented a moving defence. The verdiet was about to be announced. And now an editorial: Yote No. on Proposition 602.

Meanwhile the children had been trying to find out about the maniac. One night they sneaked over to his house and .Things go better with Coke. . .

The Negro is dead, shot in fact, but we missed that part. The father of the girl who was raped attacks the lawyer's children,

... Use Colgate, the mouthwash for lovers. . . The children are saved by a mystery man. The attacker has been killed.

Who was the hero? .Stronger than dirt, New Ajax.

Satisfied we find out that the supposed maniac who has been living down the street has saved the children. That was quite a show. And now some scenes from next week's show.

. . . . one millimeter longer.

.SOS suds longer.

.... Americans start wearing cleaner clothes.

THE HERD, FLOCK, CROWD etc.

"Cars from every direction have been coming in steadily all day" said Herman to Craig.

"What is their purpose?" asked Craig. "You know as much as I. I don't think they know themselves."

Their glances returned to the scenic Grand Canyon. Standing at the cliff was a throng of people, herded like sheep. At the bottom of the canyon could be seen the bodies of those who had jumped.

"They are destroying themselves. Can nothing be done?" declared Craig.
"What can be done? They are following their leader."
"Let's go inside for a cup of coffee." "Fine, I could use it right now." They walked into the crowded coffee shop into the midst of more sheep. Sitting at the counter they overheard one fellow calculating the rate of jumps per hour the counter they overheard one tellow calculating the rate of jumps per nour against the total population.

"I wonder if he's considering it himself, It seems to be the thing these days."
"Yes, I have seen many young people going down. You know how kids are, anything the crowd does." They sipped their coffee slowly. When they finished Craig raised his eyes to Herman's. As if in agreement, they both rose and headed outside. They proceeded to walk over to the cliff, "Let's see some action" said Herman. Standing at the cliff, Craig threw a questioning glance at Herman. He nodded and took Craig's outstretched hand. They jumped.

Bombers crush Colts 29 – 0

In the opening game SCITS was defeated by Central 9 - 2. In the second game of the season, SCITS met Petrolia and jumped back to a 37 - 0 victory which was the beginning of an uphill drive. Next, SCITS took on St. Clair who was rated second by the local press and through brilliant defence, another shutout of 29 - 0 took place. The annual Red Feather Night found the Bombers pitted against the Irish and again the SCITS team won, this time with 13 - 0.

In a hard-hitting, closely-fought contest, SCITS overcame the 'rebel from the North' with a 14 - 6 win,

The regular season ended with the SCITS Blue Bombers in second position much to the surprise of the local sports writers who had picked the club for fifth position.

The undefeated Central Centaurs advanced to meet SCITS for the SSSAA Football title in an exciting night game at Norm Perry Park. In the first quarter, the Centaurs wasted no time in scoring a touchdown and converted to make the score 7 – 0. After this initial scoring, the defence contained the Centaurs to no further score in this quarter's play.

Early in the second quarter, the offensive squad drove over for a touchdown to make the game 7 – 6 as the convert was incomplete. In the same quarter, the defence held the Centaurs to only two safeties, good for a point a piece which left the Bombers behind 9 – 6 at the half.

The third quarter was a hard-hitting battle of the defences with the Centaurs gaining another single point, making it a 10 - 6 ball game. Going into the final quarter, the Bombers shot into the lead by scoring a touchdown in the early moments of play. In the last three minutes of play the SCITS Blue Bombers were struck by disaster as the Centaurs, on a final bid, made good to squeak by to win the game.

SENIOR BASKETBALL 1968 - '69

The Senior Team followed a pattern set by the Senior Football Team in that they finished second to Central during the regular season and the playoffs. The Seniors were led this year by veteran captains Tom Thomson and Tom Mattingley, the only holdovers from last year's SSSAA and WOSSA Championship team. A pleasant surprise was the play of guard, Pete Westfall, George Sunaitis, centre, and Mike Preston, left forward, who were the starting members of the team. Other members of the team included: Greg Milson, a good sixth man, Tom Gartshore (watch him next year!), Dale Barraclogh, a solid performer, Brian Gould, a rookie from Northern Ontario, Gerry Butler (could be the surprise of the 1970 season), and Ken Fleet.

Tom Thomson and Pete Westfall led the scoring among the team members; George Sunaitis was the top rebounder; Tom Mattingley led the team defensively; and Tom Thomson led the team at the foul line and as a playmaker.

Considering the amount of talent that was lost from last year's Championship team (Don Hart, Brent McFarlane, Brian Smith, and Rich Robertson), and the number of rookies on this year's squad, the Seniors had a very successful year winning 15 and losing only 5 games.

WRESTLING CATCHES ON at SCITS

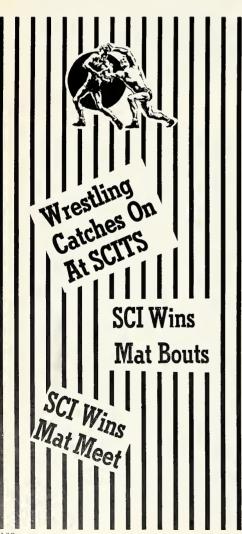

Wrestling has finally caught on in an organized way in at least one Sarnia High School, namely SCITS. During gym classes, where wrestling is taught regularly, first eliminations take place in grades 9 to 12. Six boys from each form represent each of six weight classes. About four games a day are played off during the lunch hours.

Olympic wrestling, slightly different from the wrestling known by most, is played. Each player is given a position in which they must use either all defensive or all offensive holds. There are no punishing holds allowed, such as the hammerlock or strangle holds.

Skill and moves in taking and pinning a man earns points. The player with the most points wins the round. There are only three periods lasting two or three minutes each, with a count of two when pinned. Special Olympic Mats are used.

A trophy for each weight class will be presented by the B.A.A. at the end of the season.

This year S.C.I.T.S. was introduced to interschool wrestling by Mr. J. Passingham. However, for its first year the team did quite well. Top men are Frank Guerrette (148 lb.) with 18 wins and Tom Ellenor (unlimited) with 18 wins, both out of 20 matches. Wrestling will continue in the years to come, eventually taking WOSSA and going on. The rest of the members of the team are: Harry Lausman 106, Dusty Bartly 106, Morris Arsenault 115, Paul Laur 123, Glen White 130, Bob Pezzin 130, Dave McCracken 136, Ed Huston 141, Joe Toms 157, Bob Vandervies 168, Jan Prozorowicz 178.
